

2017 Public Integrity Bureau Annual Report

PIB shall include in its annual report a summary of each misconduct complaint, including a description of the allegation, the final approved disposition, and any discipline imposed. PIB's annual report shall also include aggregate misconduct data showing the number of each type of complaint and the number and rate of sustained cases after final approval, and shall provide an analysis of this data that identifies trends and concerns and documents NOPD's response to the identified trends and concerns. The PIB and IPM should coordinate and confer with each other in collecting, analyzing, and reporting this data to avoid or minimize duplication of efforts or resources. [Consent Decree ¶426]

The Public Integrity Bureau (PIB), commanded by Deputy Superintendent Arlinda Westbrook, is responsible for the fair and consistent implementation of the disciplinary process, from the receipt of a complaint through its final resolution. This includes the assignment and processing of all disciplinary investigations, review of recommendations in all disciplinary investigations and hearings, maintenance of disciplinary records, and the coordination of specific investigations with outside agencies such as the Federal Bureau of Investigations and the Independent Police Monitor.

All bureaus and divisions are included in the disciplinary process. Although officers assigned to PIB investigate allegations of criminal misconduct against both police officers and civilian employees, the investigation of violations of administrative regulations are shared with first-line supervisors. In order to hold first-line supervisors accountable and ensure their involvement in complaints against their subordinates, many administrative complaints are forwarded to division commanders through their bureau chiefs for investigation. These investigations are reviewed through that bureau's chain of command, then ultimately by PIB and Superintendent of Police Michael Harrison.

The purpose of this report is to summarize misconduct complaint data collected for the past year, analyze that data, and identify trends and concerns in the areas of misconduct and discipline. This report identifies demographic information on the individuals that file complaints, as well as the officers that are accused of misconduct; the status and dispositions of misconduct investigations opened in the previous year; the types of allegations filed against officers; and summaries of the alleged misconduct, as stated by the individuals filing the complaints.

To ensure the quality and integrity of the Department's compliant process, the Office of the Consent Decree Monitor (OCDM) routinely conducts bi-annual audits of NOPD misconduct investigations. In late 2017, the NOPD Compliance Bureau's Audit and Review Unit also began conducting supplemental audits on a more frequent basis. As an added accountability measure, PIB has also created an internal Quality Assurance Unit, including commissioned and civilian employees, focused on ensuring misconduct investigations handled by PIB and District investigators all maintain the same high standards set forth by the Department.

Key definitions

Complaint—Any allegation of misconduct committed by any NOPD employee that is reported by any person, including any NOPD employee.

DI-2 (Documentation of Counseling)—A DI-2 may be submitted when a supervisor becomes aware of an infraction committed by an officer, and the behavior is considered to be so minor that it is correctable by simple counseling or minimal intervention by a supervisor. The action taken must originate from a supervisor's knowledge of an employee's behavior which involves a minor administrative violation of a Departmental order, policy or procedure. The behavior must not severely impair or impact the efficiency of the public service, or the mission and goals of the Department.

Exonerated—The outcome of a disciplinary investigation in which a preponderance of the evidence demonstrated that the alleged misconduct occurred but did not violate NOPD policies, procedures, or training.

Formal Disciplinary Investigation—Internal New Orleans Police Department investigation that may result in disciplinary action as set forth in Civil Service Rules.

Misconduct—Any action or inaction that violates any Departmental Rule, Policy, Procedure, Order, verbal or written instruction, or criminal law.

Minor violation/infraction—A violation of a Departmental Rule, Policy, Procedure, Order, regulation, or verbal/written instructions that a supervisor believes requires minimal intervention through redirection, retraining and/or counseling to correct the employee's behavior (e.g., tardiness, uniform requirement, forgetting to complete an FIC, and cleanliness of vehicle). The behavior must not be the subject of a public complaint and must be sufficiently minor that it is correctable by minimal intervention by the supervisor, with the goal of non-repetitive behavior. Repetition of similar violations within a twelve-month period (based on the date of the observed violation) may require discipline. Refer to Chapter 35.1.7 – Non-Disciplinary Responses to Minor Violations for guidance

No Formal Investigation Merited (NFIM)—A complaint action in which the allegation, on its face, does not constitute a violation by an employee of any Departmental Rule, Policy, Procedure, verbal or written instruction, or criminal or civil law.

Not Sustained— The outcome of a disciplinary investigation in which a preponderance of the evidence did not demonstrate that the alleged misconduct occurred.

Sustained— The outcome of a disciplinary investigation in which a preponderance of the evidence demonstrates the alleged misconduct occurred.

Unfounded—The outcome of a disciplinary investigation in which a preponderance of the evidence demonstrates the alleged misconduct did not occur or did not involve the accused officer or employee.

Relevant Policies

Chapter 26.2, “Adjudication of Misconduct,” became effective May 15, 2016, partially replacing Policy 1021. This chapter establishes procedures for conducting predisposition conferences and/or disciplinary hearings following internal investigations that identify potential misconduct and for the administration of penalties if allegations of misconduct are ultimately sustained.

Chapter 26.2.1, “Disciplinary Matrix / Penalty Schedule,” became effective May 15, 2016, also replacing portions of Policy 1021. This chapter provides penalty ranges for rule and policy violations. The disciplinary matrix delineates the lowest possible penalty, the presumptive penalty, and the maximum penalty for each level of offense.

Chapter 52.1.1, “Misconduct Complaint Intake and Investigation,” became effective on July 19, 2015, replacing former Policy 1020. This new policy, which governs the NOPD’s investigation of misconduct complaints, was approved by the Office of the Consent Decree Monitor (OCDM) and the Department of Justice (DOJ), and it is fully compliant with the Consent Decree.

Chapter 52.2, “Negotiated Settlement Agreements,” became effective November 15, 2015, replacing Policy 1023. The policy allows for resolution of misconduct complaints for minor violations reported by supervisors without a formal hearing. It was revised to allow for negotiated settlements involving body-worn camera violations. Chapter 35.1.7, “Non-Disciplinary Responses to Minor Violations,” was converted to chapter format in 2015, and was again updated in 2017. That policy allows for counseling or training as resolution of minor violations or infractions.

The Complaint Process

When a complaint is filed against a NOPD employee, the NOPD's Public Integrity Bureau conducts a preliminary investigation. Upon receiving a complaint, the Public Integrity Bureau reviews, classifies, and assigns the complaint to an investigator. The investigator is required to attempt to contact the complainant and obtain a recorded statement; however, some complainants choose to remain anonymous. The investigator will ask the complainant to provide as much detailed information as possible regarding the incident.

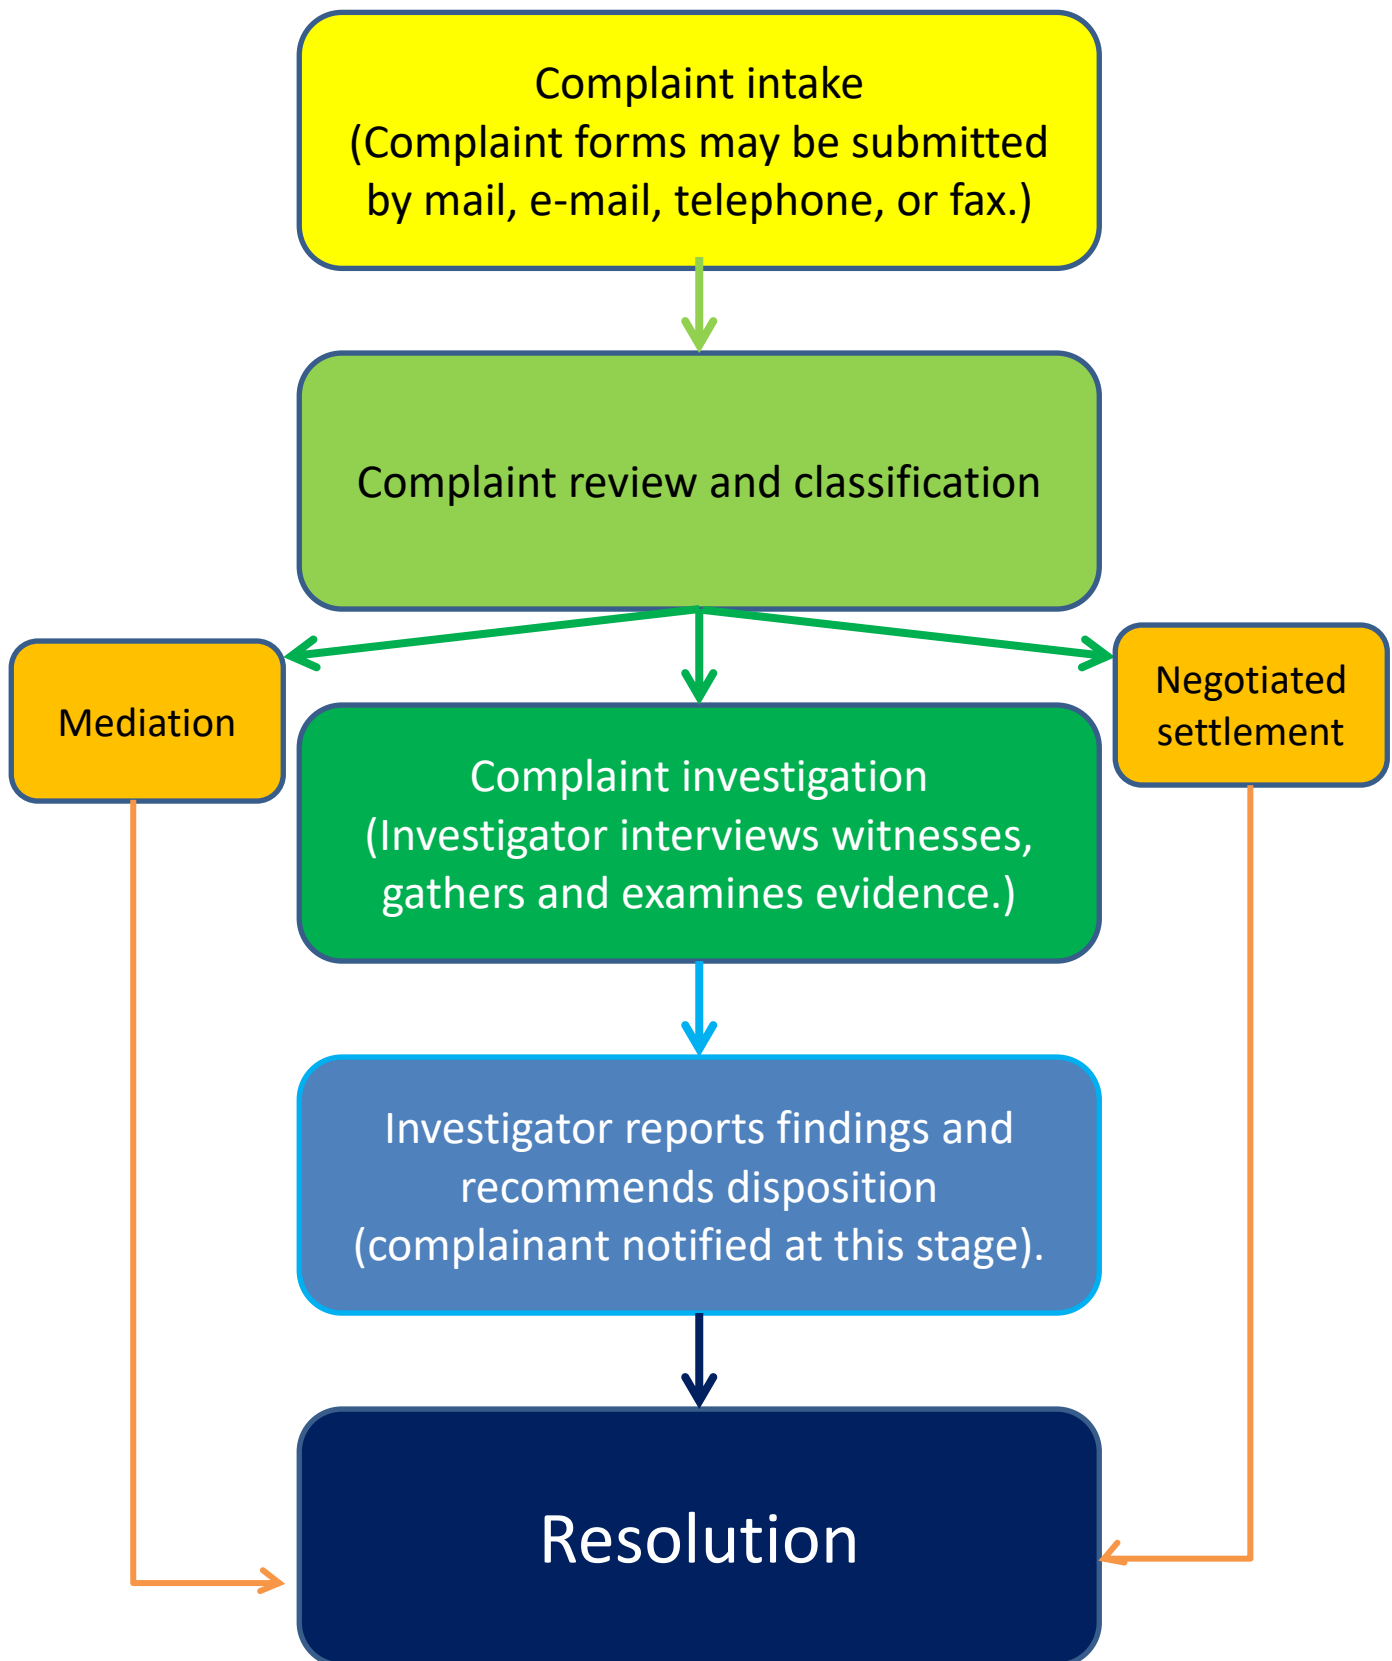

The investigator will contact all available witnesses, including police officers, examine all relevant evidence, and gather all information pertinent to each allegation. If for any reason there is a lengthy delay in the investigation, the complainant will be notified as to when he or she can expect to receive the results. After all allegations have been fully investigated, the Superintendent of Police will determine what action, if any, should be taken to resolve the complaint.

The investigation may result in several outcomes, depending on the final disposition of the complaint. If the disposition is exonerated, unfounded, or not sustained, no disciplinary action will be taken. In all cases, the person who made the complaint will be notified in writing of the investigator's findings.

When an allegation is sustained, the matter may proceed to a disciplinary hearing at which time a penalty will be recommended. The Superintendent of Police ultimately determines what penalty is appropriate. The penalty may range from oral and/or written reprimand, to remedial training, suspension, fine, demotion, or dismissal from the department.

If the complaint includes allegations of criminal wrongdoing, a criminal investigation may be conducted in addition to any administrative investigation. The District Attorney may then be consulted regarding the filing of criminal charges and the possible arrest of the offending employee.

The following flow chart describes the misconduct complaint process:

Misconduct Complaint Findings

In 2017, the Public Integrity Bureau (PIB) processed 734 misconduct complaints, including 470 lodged by members of the public (64 percent of all complaints) and 264 that were initiated by other members of the NOPD (36 percent). The total number of complaints per year has decreased significantly over the last five years, even as the NOPD has worked to make the complaint process more accessible to the public, by posting complaint information and forms online, as well as physical copies in locations across the entire city. Printed complaint forms and brochures are available in English, Spanish and Vietnamese at every police district station, NOPD Headquarters, PIB, the office of the Independent Police Monitor, the Orleans Parish Public Defender, City libraries and courthouses.

Table 1: Total Complaints

Complaint Type	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017
Public Initiated	669 (71%)	654 (75%)	549 (65%)	591 (69.5%)	470 (64%)
Rank Initiated	279 (29%)	216 (25%)	301 (35%)	259 (30.5%)	264 (36%)
Totals	948	870	850	850	734

Analysis of these data reveals several encouraging trends. For example, other than 2016, which matched the previous year's total, the total number of complaints has continued to decrease. The number of complaints in 2017 is down by 23% from the high 948 complaints in 2013. This downward trend occurs at a time when the New Orleans Police Department has bolstered community awareness of the misconduct complaint process through stronger outreach. For example, informational placards have been posted at every district station and police facility open to the public. These placards notify citizens in three different languages (English, Spanish, and Vietnamese) how to make a complaint against a police officer or Department employee, as well as how to file a commendation for excellent police work. The Department also created a detailed PowerPoint presentation for the public that explains the misconduct complaint process; the file is available on the NOPD Web site (visit <http://www.nola.gov/nopd/citizen-services/complaints/>).

Although several factors may have contributed to the downward trend, the Department believes fewer complaints suggest improved performance by NOPD officers in their law enforcement duties. The reforms and best practices implemented as a consequence of the federal Consent Decree have not only reaffirmed the Department's commitment to effective, constitutional policing, but are improving officers' relationship to the New Orleans community, including residents and non-residents.

Although the Department is very focused on discipline, both as a function of command and as a means of public accountability, NOPD continues to explore alternatives to punishment in appropriate situations. For example, remedial training, redirection, and counseling can be effective ways to resolve minor administrative violations. Since implementing the practice in 2015, the NOPD has worked with the Independent Police Monitor, to successfully resolve 95 complaints through mediations between complainants and accused officers.

Summary of Complaints by Allegation

Whether Public or Rank Initiated, complaints may contain more than one allegation against an accused employee. Table 2 (following page) contains a summary of the of allegations over the last two years, by the Rule that was allegedly violated, the specific paragraph/sub-section of the rule, and the count of how many of these specific allegations were made.

The overall results are promising. While there was the same number of complaints in 2015 and 2016, the number of overall allegations saw a significant decrease, from 1999 to 1821. This trend continued in 2017, with 734 complaints with 1545 individual allegations; however 46 of the documented allegations were found to have no violation, or were not shown to have involved NOPD personnel, bringing the total number of allegations to 1499. The largest decrease occurred in allegations regarding Rule 4: Paragraph 2 “Instructions from an Authoritative Source,” which dropped from 828 in 2015, to only 99 by 2017. On the other hand, some categories had significant increases as well. For example, alleged violations of Rule 4: Paragraph 4 “Neglect of Duty” grew from 418 in to 2015, to a high of 802 in 2017. PIB attributes these and similar shifts in allegations to changes in NOPD’s Disciplinary Matrix (Chapter 26.2.1), which was implemented in May 2016. Under the updated matrix, penalties that would have previously been considered “Instructions from an Authoritative Source,” such as minor violations of written NOPD policies and/or directives, would now be adjudicated as Neglect of Duty. Now, “Instructions” typically applies to verbal commands.

Complaint Dispositions

The following table (Table 3) lists the number, and percent, of dispositions and statuses given by the end of calendar years 2015 through 2017. Sustained complaints dropped significantly between 2015 and 2016, not only as a total number (266 vs 199), but also as a percentage of total cases (32% vs 23%). While the “Sustained” disposition saw the greatest change, other dispositions in Table 3 indicate a shift in the overall dispositions applied by PIB.

Table 3: Outcome Assessments and Analysis

Complaints by Demographics

The following tables describe the complaints filed against NOPD, organized by the demographic information (race/ethnicity, gender, and age/years of service) provided for both the complainants and the accused employees. Because the NOPD reporting software does not require input of complete employee demographics while completing reports, and some individuals involved in the complaint process choose not to provide identifying information, the data used below does have limitations. However, the following analysis is based on the most accurate information that could be pulled from the data provided.

The first group of tables below identifies the complainants, both public and rank, by the demographic information provided during the time they filed their complaint (Tables 4, 5 and 6). Table 4 shows that of all complainants that chose to identify their gender, 51 percent were women (219) and the other 49 percent (213) were men. However, there were 302 complainants that did not identify their gender.

Female	313	219
Male	274	213
Unknown/Not Specified	263	302
Total	850	734

The following table (Table 5) indicates that complainants were far more likely to be Black or African American, than any other race/ethnicity. Of all complainants that identified their race/ethnicity, 308 (78 percent) identified themselves as Black or African American. Of all other complainants who chose to identify their race/ethnicity, the closest group was White or Caucasian complainants, with 77 (19 percent).

Table 5: Complainants by Race/Ethnicity

	2016	2017
African American/Black	395	308
Asian/Pacific Islander	3	2
Hispanic	18	7
White	133	77
Unknown/Not Specified	301	340
Total	850	734

The following table (Table 6), captures the age ranges of those citizens who filed complaints. Rather than track the ages of complainants who are members of the NOPD, a comparable measure in relation would be the number of years they have served with the NOPD. However, that information is only captured on employees accused of misconduct (Table 8). Similarly to 2016, among publicly initiated complainants that chose to identify their age, most are between the ages of 30 and 49; 153 (52 percent) of 297 complainants that listed a date of birth.

Table 6: Citizens Complainants by Age

	14-29	30-39	40-49	50-59	60+	Unknown/Not Specified
Public Initiated	61	85	68	59	24	437

While each complaint is filed by individual complainants, multiple officers and/or NOPD staff can be named in a complaint. Because multiple people can be named in any given complaint, the number of “Accused” is higher than the number of individual complaints. While there were 734 complaints filed in 2017, the information found on NOPD’s open-data website (<http://nopdnews.com/transparency/policing-data/>) indicates that 978 individuals were named in these complaints. Of those 978, public initiated complaints were filed against 617 accused individuals, while rank initiated complaints were filed against 361 individuals.

The distribution of complaints across genders roughly follows the gender demographics of the department. While there were slightly more women that filed complaints than men, the vast majority of complaints are filed against male NOPD personnel. Of the accused officers whose gender was identified, 1091 allegations (73 percent) were made against males; compared to 291 (20 percent) made against females (Table 7). These percentages appear to be closely linked to the demographics of the department, 75 percent male, 22 percent female, and about three percent that have no gender listed. There were also 125 allegations in which the accused person's gender was not indicated.

Table 7: Allegations by Gender

	Female	Male	Unknown/Not Specified
Public Initiated	173	662	102
Rank Initiated	118	429	23
Total	291	1091	125

Black or African American officers comprise approximately 54 percent of NOPD and accounted for 51 percent of misconduct allegations (Table 8). White or Caucasian officers received 524 individual allegations (35 percent) and represent approximately 39 percent of the NOPD. In 2017, 109 allegations were attributed to individuals without a listed race/ethnicity of the accused.

Rank Initiated	295	224	18	9	0	23
Total	765	524	59	28	4	109

The last of the demographic tables (Table 9) included in this report, describes the years of service of the NOPD employees accused in 2017 misconduct complaints. Table 9 shows that employees with fewer years of NOPD experience were most likely to receive complaints. Specifically, of the rank initiated complaints, which indicated the accused officer's years of service, 237 (48 percent) allegations were filed against employees with 10 or fewer years with the NOPD. Similarly among public initiated complaints, 428 (48 percent) of the accused employees had 10 or fewer years with the NOPD. Table 9 also shows that 160 cases did not specify the accused employee's years of service.

Misconduct Complaint Summaries

The following summaries describe all of the misconduct complaints lodged against NOPD officers and employees through the Public Integrity Bureau in 2017. The complaint process of the New Orleans Police Department is allegation-driven, and all allegations are taken seriously and investigated thoroughly. However, until a complaint is proven, allegations contained in the complaint have not been verified and should not be read as statements of fact. It is important to note that the summaries below describe the complaint and not necessarily the specific findings of the investigation. Additionally, the dispositions and actions taken listed below are updated as of June 2018.

Additionally, a “sustained” disposition does not necessarily indicate that all the complainant’s allegations have been proven. Misconduct complaints often contain multiple allegations, and a “sustained” disposition reflects the fact that at least one allegation was proven to be true by a preponderance of the evidence. In some cases, an investigator may discover additional allegations that are not contained in the original complaint; therefore, a case may be given a “sustained” disposition even when none of the complainant’s allegations are proven.

Finally, a complaint may be given a “sustained” disposition when an investigation is completed, but that disposition may change once the complaint is adjudicated during a disciplinary hearing. The disposition of a complaint is not considered final until after the disciplinary hearing is held and the Superintendent of Police has approved the disposition and discipline. Consequently, the disposition of cases for which the discipline is listed as “Awaiting Hearing” or “Pending” may ultimately change.
